JAMES GRIMES, father of the Divide, was a passenger last evening for Sacramento where he goes on private business.

J. J. JOYNER has accepted a position as superintendent of mining company operations near Darwin, Calif.

J. W. CONLISK, agent of the Giant Powder company, came in from Wabaska this morning for a short stay among his patrons in Tonopah and the Divide.

W. E. WATERS, superintendent of the Ben Hur, was among the arrivals today from San Francisco.

TREATY CANNOT BE AMENDED

That is Senator Hitchcock's View After Conference With the President.

OPTIMISTIC ABOUT THE TREATY

Keen Observers at Washington Feel That All Efforts to Amend the Treaty Will Prove Futile.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Senator Hitchcock, who is leading the fight in the senate for the ratification of the peace treaty, has issued a statement to the effect that he and the other friends of the treaty in the senate are so confident of their ability to defeat any amendments on the floor of the senate that they are willing to go to a vote this week.

Senator Hitchcock's statement was given out just after he left the White House, where he had conferred with the president about the treaty.

The conference with the president followed a red letter day in the senate for the friends of the treaty.

The speech of Senator McCumber, one of the veteran Republican leaders, against the Shantung amendment adopted by the majority of the foreign relations committee, was one of the most effective arguments that has been made against the Shantung amendment in particular, as well as against any amendment or reservation that would necessitate sending the treaty back to the powers.

It is the general opinion among the keenest observers in Washington that Senator McCumber has more than offset any headway that the opponents of the treaty may have made by reason of the fact that they control the foreign relations committee.

"To my mind, Senator McCumber has put the final nail in the Shantung controversy," said Senator Hitchcock in his statement. Continuing, Senator Hitchcock said:

"I told the president that the Shantung amendment put on in the foreign relations committee would be defeated by a decisive vote in the senate. I told him that at least twelve Republican senators would vote against the amendment."

"The president seemed pleased with the situation in the senate and the country. I told him we helped move the treaty forward today by getting rid of the Fall amendments. I suggested to the committee that it might as well vote on all as one of them. My position is that it is best to get the treaty in the senate, regardless of what is done to it in the committee, where the opponents are in the majority. The country cannot be settled until this treaty is disposed of in the proper way. Nothing will be settled as long as it is pending."

"That is the basis of all our troubles now," said Bernard Baruch, who was listening to the statement of Mr. Hitchcock. Mr. Hitchcock responded "Yes, and we will not get rid of them until we act. The country is equally coming to that conclusion. The people want action."

"My prediction," Mr. Hitchcock added, "that each amendment put on by the foreign relations committee will be voted down when it comes up. We have at least forty Democrats and twenty Republicans who will stand together against some amendments. The vote will be as large as on others but large enough to kill them. About forty Democrats are working with the treaty. Republicans get the treaty out of the committee."

Mr. Hitchcock predicted that the treaty would be ratified by the last of September.

"I have been a little dubious about the proposed trip of the president," said Senator Hitchcock, "but his success with the Republican senators who called on him by invitation has convinced me that he could do great good before the people. The attitude of the opponents of the league of nations improved after the visits to the White House. Contact with the members of the senate has helped. I told the president he should see other senators, and I hope he will."

May Raine Monks, Los Angeles and mother California, has become famous as a great money-raising section, if the league of nations becomes a reality. They believe that the conditions there are favorable for the development of an industry that will make a specialty of raising Monks, parrots and other wild pets that demand few food and which can be raised in great numbers, because of war conditions.

AMUSEMENTS

ALICE BRADY AT THE BUTLER TONIGHT.

Alice Brady, in "In the Hollow of Her Hand" which will be shown at the Butler tonight, takes the role of a young English girl, who comes of a good family who leave her penniless. She is forced to earn her own living.

After trying her hand at several vocations in England she leaves for America to accept a position there. On the steamer she meets Challis Wrangle, who she falls in love with. Her position does not materialize, and lonesome and down-hearted she unquestionably accepts the help he so kindly offers her. Later at an inn she learns that he is married and a scene follows in which she is forced to kill him in self-defense.

Sim, Wrangle's wife is notified of the death of her husband. She comes to the inn, and while she is shocked to learn of his death, inwardly she rejoices at the bravado of the person who has dared to do what she never had the courage to do. She meets Hetty on her way home from the inn and decides to protect her. Wrangle's death and the scandal attendant upon it are blown for the snobbish Wrangles.

Old Mr. Wrangle, however, says the law shall not touch her as she killed him in self defense. She finally marries the man she loves and everything ends happily. Added to the feature, the latest Pathe News. Tomorrow, the popular screen star, Elsie Ferguson, in "Eyes of the Soul" Coming Monday, Mary Pickford in "The Hoodlum."

Proclamations calling upon the people to give War Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates as Christmas presents have been made, of the governors of all the states in the Twelfth Federal Reserve District and mayors of the larger cities by Governor John U. Calkins of the San Francisco Federal Reserve Bank. Not only has the Governor appealed to state executives and mayors but similar appeals have gone to clergymen throughout the district. These measures will be supplemented by a vigorous campaign in many other ways to bring about wide purchases of Government securities as holiday gifts.

Governor Calkins said: "Economists are agreed that the present exorbitant level of prices that constitute not only an economic but a social menace is caused to a great extent by a 'wandering spree' being indulged in by the people. Indulgence in luxuries, which, of course, causes increases in the necessities of life, has raised prices generally to such unheard of heights that Christmas buying this year promises a dangerous climax. We, therefore, appeal to you to call upon the people of your state to forego the giving of the usual Christmas gifts this year and instead give securities of the United States Government, such as Thrift and War Savings Stamps, Treasury Savings Certificates and Liberty Bonds. There could be no more timely effort at stabilization of prices and production than such action upon your part and the part of the people, a majority of whom, I am sure, would answer your call."

San Francisco Judges to Make Guilty Choose Between Fines and Investment

Instead of forcing persons guilty of minor transgressions of the law to pay fines, in future Police and Superior Court Judges of San Francisco, as a corrective measure tending to characterize building, will give offenders appearing before them an alternative of helping themselves by investing in United States War Savings Stamps.

"I shall be glad," said Judge T. I. Fitzpatrick, Presiding Judge of the Police Court, "to assist in the movement in this direction as far as I can, under the provisions of the charter of this city and county, upon the theme that a thrifty man is a better citizen and that many of our economic ills and much of our present day social ills are due directly to thriftlessness."

The policy agreed to by the San Francisco Judges is a move to promote a better citizenship among those persons coming before them upon misdemeanor charges. Fines, while serving as a corrective measure, lowers the self-supporting ability of defendants, whereas compelling them to purchase interest-bearing securities of the United States Government, in the judge's belief, will give them a start toward building up a bank account, and, proportionately, a feeling of responsible citizenship. The only condition attached to the alternative of purchasing securities instead of paying the fine will be that the defendant must hold the securities until maturity.
